Hello Doha,
Here at long last are some of the video clips from our Doha workshop. More will follow in the coming weeks. Please take a look when you get the chance. Share your thoughts, and let me know how your PEP planning is going.
Thanks,
Leo

Melissa Osquist replied on Outline for Solution Proposal_ MARSHAWN, TIM, MARQUIS:

Do you guys know of any other groups working toward the same goals? Are there any law makers who are proposing bills for these kinds of changes? It might be easier to work with some organization that already exists and build support locally. I'm still not sure if I understand what you are actually doing for your solution.

Jake Baskin replied on Jada Maryam, Bria:

You all have some interesting data here, but I'm worried that we're still not getting focused enough on a specific problem to solve. I think it will be useful for this group to start off class by trying to come up with a very specific problem with either litter or chemical byproducts of the treatment process that you want to address.

Melissa Osquist replied on Jada Maryam, Bria:

This is looking much better. I think it's good to focus on more tangible affects of water pollution. Trying to convince people to care about the energy that goes into water treatment is much more difficult than convincing them that polluting our beaches is bad. Now that you have some more justification for your solution you should think about the feasibility of that soluti...
